

Buy A Beautiful And Luxurious Watches In Los Angeles

Chopard is a privately held watch company based in Sonvilier, Switzerland that has been held by the Scheufele family for over fifty years. The company is now headquartered in Geneva and recently celebrate its 150th anniversary. This is an amazing achievement in a business world where upstart companies come and go on a regular basis! It is obvious from their longevity that Chopard is a successful company. Chopard boasts around 100 stores located worldwide. For the last 20 years, Chopard has made its own timekeeping parts at its own factory rather than using a third party to manufacture the watch's innards. This allows Chopard to ensure that every piece of each of their watches is of the highest quality and built to last. No subpar piece will leave Switzerland and go into a customer's hands.

Chopard's watches are beautiful and luxurious. Pieces start at under $6000 and range up to nearly $50,000—but with quality like this, it's understandable why they would be so expensive. All of Chopard's gold watches are made of eighteen karat, and purchasers can choose from white gold, yellow gold, rose gold, or combinations of the two. Consumers who prefer a more silver toned look can also choose from stainless steel, titanium, or platinum watches, some of which are able to be combined with different shades of gold. Chopard is proud to offer women's, men's, and unisex watches and a quick perusal of their website shows a variety of unique styles for every taste, whether someone is looking for a traditional watch or something more modern and fashion forward.
